

FOURTH OF JULY DOG TIPS

July 5th is the busiest day of the year for pet shelters!

Exercise Your Dogs!

A worn out dog is less likely to become anxious or full of nervous energy

Provide a Safety Zone For Your Dogs!

Close windows and doors, turn on some background noise, and make sure they have a safe & comfortable bed or crate to retreat into

Be There For Your Dogs!

Simply checking in on your dog, providing reassurance and attention can keep them calm. This includes petting them, speaking calmly, and providing a calm, attentive environment

Be Prepared For a Worst Case Scenario!

Use ID tags, personalized collars, chips, or other identification systems in case your dog does panic and escape during the festivities.

PLEASE ALSO KEEP IN MIND:
